What is TAF?

Children, Young People and their Families sometimes need support.

Team Around the Family can offer advice, help and support in pulling together the right people to help.

How does it work?

Someone, it could be you, or a professional, has some concerns or worries about a child, young person or family.

You, or a professional, complete a request for support to say what you, or they, are worried about and what you would like to be supported with. We will also check that you agree to information about you and your family being shared with other services.

An Individual Support Co-ordinator will make contact with you and your child and starts to look at ways to help.

A small number of people who we think can help are asked to be part of a Team around the Family.

All of us work together to agree actions and draw up a plan.

One person who is part of the team will make sure the plan is followed.

What is Family Support?

Our skilled team work alongside parents and carers to strengthen family resilience.

We do this by supporting parents to improve their own well-being and learn new skills.

We devise and structure action plans with families by using a Signs of Safety approach which helps to identify potential solutions rather than focus on problems. This assists family members to identify and implement the actions that will achieve their own goals.

The services we offer can help adults with their routines, provide coaching in positive parenting techniques and help engage with social & community activities.

Our team work closely with Team Around the Family. In addition to our groups and courses, one-to-one support to families within the area is available.

Flying Start Outreach is a flexible extension of the early-years programme that provides some or all core Flying Start services to families with identified needs who live outside designated Flying Start areas. Helping families access support such as childcare, enhanced health visiting, parenting help, and speech-and-language support.

Understanding and Agreement

We have collected the information from this form so that we can understand what help your family may need and begin planning with you. We may need to share some of this information with other organisations so they can help us to provide the services you may need.

We will treat your information as confidential and will not share it with any other organisations unless you have consented, or unless we are required by law to share it, or if you or any other person will come to some harm if we do not share it. In all cases we will only ever share the minimum of information we need to share.

I understand the reasons for information sharing and agree that the information provided will be stored and used for the purpose of providing appropriate support.
